The female villains of Disney films are some of the most fascinating characters around, with their sneaky wit and sultry style. Club Evil Live, a unique event offering produced by the Florida-based Creative Entertainment Disney Event Group (DEG), brings these evil ladies to life for corporate and private groups.

The Queen of Hearts takes center stage at Club Evil Live.

Club Evil Live is a delightfully wicked venue where a broad range of Entertainment creates an experience like no other. DEG has produced four full productions of the event and multiple spin-offs since its conception four years ago, creating a slightly different experience each time.

“I took our Divas of Evil and asked the question, ‘What if they designed and owned their own club?’” Said DEG Show Director Mark Huffman. “Since its beginning, it has continued to grow.”

Dr. Facilier hosts the wickedly fun event.

At the most recent show, four Divas of Evil reigned over the club: Maleficent, the Evil Queen from Snow White, Cruella de Vil and Queen of Hearts. Dr. Facilier, a more recent addition, brought his own flair to the event as the host.

At Club Evil Live, a band plays everything from classic rock to contemporary pop, electrifying the dance floor. Story-based cocktails, tapas and desserts hint at the Evil Divas' world. The Divas join in during the night's floorshows, which infuse live music, lights, projection screens and dancers. The Creative Costuming team has worked diligently to give the Divas glamorous new looks, and deck out the dancers in costumes worthy of representing the evil stars.

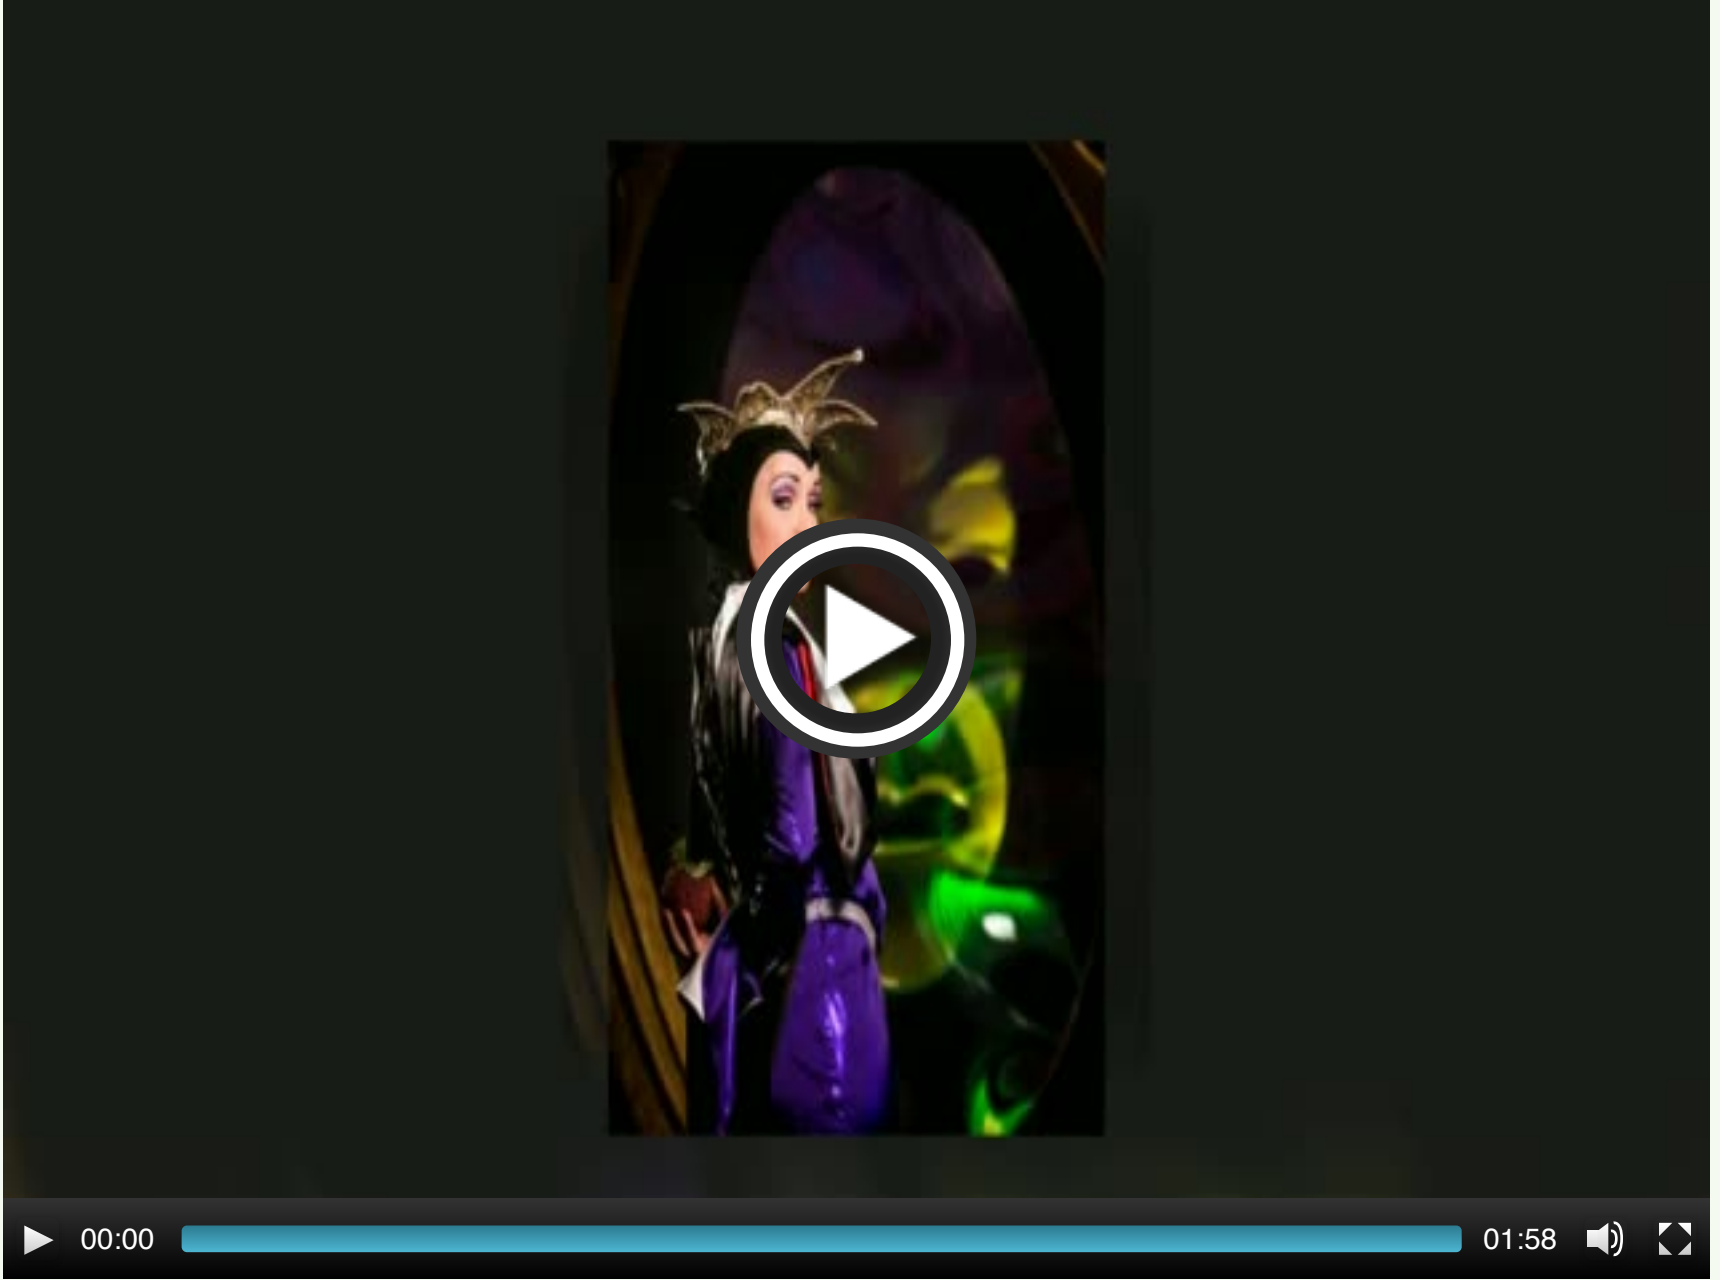

Cruella de Vil's infamous style has inspired her dancers' costumes.

The team at DEG is working on further evolutions of the event to include other villains and a new name to encompass the villains, their vanity and their vendettas: “V.”

“V’ may be interpreted in multiple ways from multiple angles,” Mark said. “I believe it adds an air of class to the night.”

The four Evil Divas offer a peek at their unforgettable show in the videos below.
